

Individual Reflection Week 4

What do I want to learn or understand better?

Last week, I said that I wanted to learn more about our external client and their APIs and what possibilities and challenges there are with using the different strategies for solving our upcoming tasks. This week, I have worked with this and gained some more knowledge but I still have a lot more to learn about it. I am looking forward to learning more about it in the upcoming weeks. I also wrote that I wanted to learn more about the scrum process. The work this week has taught me a lot and I want to continue to learn about this. One more specific thing in scrum I want to learn about is the structure and what specifically is supposed to be discussed in the different meetings, so that we can be more effective and so on. To achieve this, I am for example going to google some more about the structure.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

As said before, I want to contribute to an open and including environment where it is okay to ask questions and so on. I think that we can all learn from each other. I try to share my knowledge and I try to answer questions when I am able to.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

As the week before, I have participated in all of the meetings and contributed to the sprint planning, sprint review, team reflection, user stories and the backlog. Furthermore, I try to help us stick to the scrum structure.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

Same as the previous question. Furthermore, I have tried to help my team members when I could. I have also completed my assigned user stories and contributed to our first design draft and to fetching some questions from our clients API.
