

Individual Reflection Week3

Emma Stålberg 220408

What do I want to learn or understand better?

This week we started with our first sprint which gave me more knowledge about scrum, but I still want to learn more about it. To achieve this, I will individually reflect on the sprint and also do a sprint reflection with the entire team to see what we can do better the next sprint. Furthermore, I want to learn more about our external client and their APIs and what possibilities and challenges there are with using the different strategies for solving our upcoming tasks. To achieve this, I am going to look more into their structure and how they create surveys and receive the answers.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

I want to contribute to an open, accepting and including environment where it is okay to ask questions and so on. I think this is really important since it increases the chance that everyone is learning something new etc. I have also participated in holding a workshop about GitHub for those who wanted more knowledge with that.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

I have participated in meetings where we created the sprint planning, wrote user stories, updated the product backlog, created a first version of our definition of done and so on. I have also completed my assigned user stories. Furthermore, I try to help us to stick to the scrum structure.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I have completed my assigned user stories and helped other team members when I could. I have also participated in all our meetings and contributed by, along with my team members, doing our sprint planning, user stories, sprint review, team reflection and so on.
