

Individual Reflection Week2

What do I want to learn or understand better?

I still want to learn more about scrum and the agile workflow as well as the agile triangle. I also want to learn more about the different responsibilities and roles in the scrum model. I look forward to next week where we will be able to use our knowledge in practice and see what opportunities and challenges we have, and learn from that. Furthermore, I want to get a better understanding about our external client's wishes and our possibilities as well as limits. To get there, I am going to do more research about the company and ask the CEO some more questions.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

The things I said last week are of course still valid. It's important to be communicative, let everybody talk and make sure that everybody understands and so on. I am trying to maintain the feeling in the group that it is okay to ask questions and it is more than okay to ask follow-up questions if you still don't understand.

What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?

We have learned more about this this week. I am still learning myself, and I also try to make sure everybody else is understanding scrum as well. Since a big part of this course is about learning about the scrum process, I think it is really important to stick to the structure of scrum, and not take any "shortcuts" along the way. Hence, I am going to do my best to keep the group on the right track and focus on what really is important.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I attended both our meetings where we discussed and wrote our project scope. I have also tried to learn more about what has been said during the lectures, for example via google, to further deepen my understanding.
