Individual reflection

Simon Holst
Week 7

what do I want to learn or understand better?
One of the key features our external client disclosed valuable to them were push notifications. In order to implement them I've researched Android's implementation of push notifications in order to easily start implementing them next week during our last sprint.

how can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?
During this week's sprint review a request was brought up related to sharing knowledge; the request was that we would work even more closely on campus in order to effortlessly share ideas as well as knowledge between each other. We will try this approach next week, which hopefully will lead to easier aid.

what is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum?
This week I've participated in all meetings and been careful to fill in the KPI:s in order to keep our values up to date.

what is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?
This week I completed cooperative user stories, as well as individual efforts. This week's work mostly revolved around animations in our application, which would help the application become more intuitive and alive.