Individual Reflection – Week 5

Philip Winsnes

What do I want to learn or understand better?

This week I have done a lot of design implementation in Android Studio. Continue forward I want to get a better understanding of the best practices when designing in Android Studio. I might want to discover new areas outside design since it has been very design heavy personally the last couple of weeks.

How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?

This week I worked with my stories in pairs with others and tried to explain as much as I know. Focusing on letting the other person do as much of the practice as I am explaining. This turned out great. We also sat together as a group but still working on our individual work. There we had a better chance of helping out each other since more people could be involved. It really felt that we was working as a team.

What is my contribution towards the team's application of Scrum?

This week I've have been taking a break from being responsible from product owner. I have participated in the meetings and reflections.

What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

I have mostly helped to implement the design into the actual app which was the biggest goal this week.
